DRAFT -WP9 Final meeting

The Academic College of Tel Aviv-Yaffo and the University of Heidelberg
Germany

6-8 March 2024

Introduction

After more than three years of a very productive cooperation that took place both online and face to face, during Covid-19, war in Europe and now war in Israel, the final meeting aims to enable IFI partners to take leave of each other face to face, and to discuss in interactive ways the challenges and the breakthroughs experienced by the individuals, the HIEs teams and the work package groups during the project.

1. Meeting goals

- to meet and share experiences from the project duration.
- to introduce the project to more departments in Heidelberg university.
- to create a stronger network of connections between IFI members to continue cooperative work after the end of the project.
- to gain an appreciation of the project's outcomes.

5. Travel

Heidelberg is too small to have its own airport, but its location between Frankfurt and Stuttgart makes it easily accessible by train, shuttle, rental car, or taxi.

From Frankfurt Airport:

There is regular train service via Mannheim from the long-distance train station. This is the fastest and most convenient connection. You can find the long-distance train station on the other side of the airport, a few minutes away by foot (see map provided). Please follow the signs “Long Distance Trains”.

Be aware that you have to change trains in Mannheim: There are several regional train connections from Mannheim to Heidelberg.

You can use <https://www.bahn.com/en> (or the corresponding app “DB Navigator”) to find a connection.

From the Stuttgart Airport:

The S-Bahn leaves the Stuttgart airport from Terminal 1, Level 1.

You can travel to Heidelberg in 1 ½ to 2 hours by train. You will have to change trains at Stuttgart Main Station (Stuttgart Hbf.) From Stuttgart Hbf. there is direct service to Heidelberg (IC/EC) or with ICE via Mannheim.

By train:

The main train station (Hauptbahnhof, Hbf) in Heidelberg is centrally located. It has service to both regional towns and major cities, making it easy to get to Heidelberg.

You can look up prices for the different trains and routes on the website of the German railway. <https://www.bahn.com/en>

The Deutsche Bahn also offers “Rail&Fly”, a special package purchased through your airline which adds rail passes to your airline ticket.

Getting around in Heidelberg

Public transport in Heidelberg is available via busses and trams. You can use either the website of the regional public transport provider (VRN) or the service of the German railway (DB) to find the fastest connections for bus, tram, or train:

<https://www.vrn.de/>

<https://www.bahn.de/>

Upon arriving at the Heidelberg main station, the most convenient way to get to your hotel is by taking the tram or the bus to “Bismarckplatz” or “Campus Bergheim” (see map provided). From both stops, it is only a few minutes by foot.

Taxis

You can call a taxi in Heidelberg either by phoning +49 6221 302030, or online via this registration form:

<https://www.taxizentrale-heidelberg.de/taxi-online-bestellen.html>. Here you have to fill in your name, your phone number, your email, number of passengers, pick-up date, pick-up time, pick-up address and your destination (in this order). On the website, you can also find a list of all the taxi stations (at “HALTEPLÄTZE”).

You can also use the German-wide taxi number 22456 or use this app:

<http://tdapp.taxi-deutschland.net/>

Biking:

Heidelberg is a relatively small town and it's a biking town. It is easy to go wherever you want in a short period of time using a bicycle. It is said that Heidelberg has more cyclists than motorists.

Most streets or walkways have bike lanes, and there are several places where renting a bike is possible. Try this one, for example:

VRNnextbike – bike rental in Heidelberg

<http://www.vrnnextbike.de/en/heidelberg/>

E-Scooters

You can also rent electric scooters to get around the city. In Heidelberg, scooters from the companies TIER, BIRD, Lime and BOLT can be found all around. You will need to download the corresponding app for registration and for activating your scooter via QR code scanner.

Food/supermarkets

Since your hotels are very close to the main street of Heidelberg (see map), that will be where you will find the broadest variety of places to eat. In case you need something from the supermarket, you will find one close to your hotel (EDEKA) marked on the map.
